_Chapter One: The Mission_

A Royal Guard is someone who serves as a "protector" those protectors will do anything and everything to behold the safety of the Royal Family. The instructor spoke, he was a small man with rugged hands and hair that looked a mist somber Grey. I remembered ever so clearly the first time I met this man I saw him as a lightweight until I soon met him in the blazing battlefield. He kicked my butt to say the least but it was more of a warning then a threat.

"_Rosemary Fortress is something you shall learn to adapt to.." _I sighed and looked back behind me sensing a presence gawking at my form, there he was the ever so great Ara Yoshida or should I say my stalker..

"Yoshida-san ... shouldn't you be on patrol?" I asked annoyed by the red heads presence.

I noticed ever so slightly he had his eyes gazed upon my chest area, "Yoshida-san if you wouldn't mind I would like it if you looked at my face when speaking to me", he blushed in embarrassment seeing as he got caught. The embarrassment only lasted for a slight second before he responded, "We got off early so I thought I would check on my favorite girl". He had a smile plastered upon his face that gave the look of a complete pedophile. For some messed up reason this creep thought he had a chance with me and hasn't stopped hitting on me ever since I was enlisted.

I mean it was bad enough I had to suffer working for the Royal Court for the rest of my life now to make matters worse he entered... thankfully before he had gotten another chance to open his perverted mouth a messenger came in.

"Blair-san you have been summoned by Ouji-sama" he spoke while bowing in mine and Yoshida's presence. _"Thank god..."_ I thought _"there was no way I could handle another minute with this man..."_. _"Thank you I shall leave at once", I then turned towards Yoshida and bowed lightly to dismiss myself from this scenario before running off along the pathway towards the main entrance of the Fortress. I could still hear Yoshida cursing under his breath as I reached the main gates.

_**Inside Rosemary Fortress**_

Over the past years Tempest became known as the most deadly of the Royal Guard's inside Rosemary Fortress, she placed fear in most Aristocrats and common vampires and dare she say even some pure bloods. She had reached several halls and taken a few U-turns before deciding that she was officially lost.

"_Unbelievable...after all these years living in this place I still have no clue on how I managed to get lost!"_ I thought getting frustrated.

I had no clue as to what level of the fortress I was on let alone where I was. After several minutes of searching and turning I felt tired and defeated. My eyes skimmed over towards two twin doors decorated in small golden implants. I managed to open the left door and slowly stepped inside, reveling behind the door was a room, it consisted of a king sized bed with golden decor and matching night stand tables along with several dressers.

There was a golden array of sofas placed at a corner of the room settled along side a ruby table. Who ever this room belonged to sure must be rich! I mean look at this place! It was sized as two large kitchens and a small livingroom. I soon was starting to get lost in my train of thoughts as I unconsciously skimmed over three unopened doors glued onto the Victorian walls.

My curiosity evoked me while I walked towards the first door, once I turned the door knob it had raveled a personal study. I then immediately regretted walking into that study as I saw an all too familiar figure standing along a book shelf while a book had been placed in his pale hands. _"Oh.. no.. no no no no no! I'm screwed!"_ _I closed my eyes and reopened them only to see that my savior had now been staring standing no more then a few inches away from me.

"O..Ouji-s.. sama" I bowed stuttering in fear, I quickly apologized and closed my eyes while my head had still be facing the ground. I squeezed my eyes shut praying mentally for my dear life, soon after I felt a cold hand placed upon my right shoulder signaling me to make eye contact. I responded to the cool touch by lifting my head and saw the ocean blue eyes of the Crown Prince, I slowly started sinking into his majestic eyes until his voice snapped my slightly paralyzed form.

"This was not the way I had expected you to meet me" he spoke hiding the humor from his voice, "Any how since your already here I will tell you what I have called you for". We both sat down near his desk onto the golden sofas. He told me that I would have to complete this mission that he had assigned to me in order to finish my final transition stage.

"Listen to me I can only protect you from the council for so long, this is why you must do this in order to gain their trust and acceptance". He spoke as he sighed casually placing a hand onto his forehead. " I will do what I can to interfere but the rest depends on you, Cross will already know of your arrival while Yoshida briefs you of your cover". "I understand Ouji-sama I shall do my best", "Good".

He caught me off guard as he placed a small kiss onto my left cheek before dismissing me to meet with Yoshida. I quickly exited his chambers with blush covering my face.

_**In the Courtyard**_

I met up with the pervert and listened while he explained my cover. I was to play the role of Mari Fuwa the only niece of Kaien Cross. Mari's mother and father had died in a car accident so she was therefore taken into the care of Kaien, it had seemed like a semi believable story but it would have to do. In the upcoming future I noted that I would have to come up with events of my past life, it was easy considering fake background history had been placed by the council,so I could go on from there.

Yoshida told me that my luggage and car were all ready to be set out, I bid him farewell and walked in the direction my car. He gave me a slide comment about missing me, while I walked I could sense that his eyes were glued onto my bottom portion as I stepped inside the car. _"You have got to be kidding me..."_ I shot him a quick warning glare causing him to divert his eyes to another direction.

"All ready Ma'am?" the driver asked glancing at the reflection mirror. I gave him a quick nod signaling him to leave, he soon after started up the car and left the gates of Rosemary Fortress.

"_Well here goes nothing.. I wonder how eventful Cross Academy will be..."_

Chapter Two: Cross Academy

"_Eliza.. you will no longer exist, you have one name and one name only repeat after me... Eliza Seymour no longer exists.. Tempest Blair is who you shall be from here on out"."I understand Ouji-sama but why must I change my identity?"".The council will never accept you.. you must do this in order to survive my dear, now go head on out to the training grounds and become my Royal Guard".._

Eliza Seymour... that was the former me,she was a fool that had always been lost in her own conceded world,a girl too weak for her own good and far too trusting. No.. now that was not me.. that could never be me..the replacement was very alarming and much more alert. A sinister smile managed to creep upon my lips as I thought about who I had currently been, or should I say who I was destined to become.. _"Tempest Blair.."_.

A murderous monster masked in the form of a human being, it was quite ironic considering that Eliza had been killed by a vampire and Tempest had been awoken right after her death.

"_A Royal Guard... nothing but dogs with shiny labels.."_ a voice repeated.

I had been far too zoned out in my thoughts that I didn't even notice the driver had opened the car door asking me to politely get out. "Ma'am? We have arrive at Cross Academy" he spoke, "So we have..".

I stepped out after him and asked if he could gather my belongings from the trunk. Once I got my luggage and thanked the driver I walked over towards the main entrance.

The entrance was a giant gate with twin doors decorated with the initials C.A on each side of it. It was supported by twin stone towers that had gatekeepers on each side.

I turned my head upwards to look at the gatekeepers giving them the signal to let me in. Thankfully they got my gesture and had started to open the main entrance, as I stepped inside I hauled my suit cases with me taking in the immediate scenery.

This Academy had been built by bodies of water and forests, what a great way to drown if you ask me.

I mentally smirked to myself at the comment I made. Soon after I sensed two figures starting to approach me, one had been a human while the other was a level E.

Remembering my vampire aura I quickly shadowed it making it seem as I was a mere human being.

As the two got closer I could see there figures it was a small girl with short brown hair and matching reddish-brown eyes, _"that must be the human.."_.

The figure next to her was a tall boy with sliver hair and lavender eyes glaring towards the young girl, _"the level E... he sure is controlled.."_.

"Zero you don't have to act like that every time you see a vampire!" the small girl screamed, the boy on the other hand seemed uninterested by her beliefs,I got the sense that he hated vampires for a valid reason.

"Those bloodsuckers don't deserve respect Yuuki, I don't care how much you care for them" he replied coldly. "The Headmaster talks about the Night Class like they're good vampires who support his pacifism, but I don't trust them. I won't let my guard down. I'm cooperating so I can find the most effective way to kill those beasts in human form". Yuuki sighed in response until her eyes met me, "Oye! Zero I think that's Mari-san!" she replied cheerfully.

"_Zero Kiryu and Yuuki Cross.. interesting.."_

I stopped in my tracks and saw the pair making there way towards me, thankfully Zero hadn't seen through me, "Hi I'm Yuuki Cross! And this is Zero Kiryu! It's nice to meet you Mari-san!" I gave her a faint smile and told them both it was nice to meet them. Zero was giving me strange looks for a brief moment, "KYAAAAA! ITS ALMOST TIME!" a high pitched voice screamed, "_ugh you have got to be kidding me.."_ I then turned towards Yuuki and Zero "Shoot! I hadn't realized the time, Zero come on it's time for the switch over!" Yuuki panicked. "What about her?" Zero questioned, "Oh right I forgot.. Mari-san do you mind waiting for a little while?", "No I don't mind at all please take your time, I can see that you two have duties to attend to". Yuuki let out a relief sigh and thanked me for understanding the situation.

Zero helped me by grabbing one of my suitcases as we walked towards what I'm assuming was the Moon Dormitory's entrance. As we got closer I saw a stampede of screaming teenagers, Zero carefully made his way through the herd while Yuuki got trampled on. Zero led me towards a tree and told me to stay there until they were done, he then made his way towards Yuuki and helped her up.

"ALRIGHT EVERYONE PLEASE DONT SHOVE OR PUSH YOU WILL GET HURT!". Yuuki screamed trying to get everyone calm.

"YUUKI YOUR JUST BEING RUDE!", "YA YOU WANT THEM ALL TO YOURSELF!", "YOUR MISUSING YOUR TITTLE!" a select few screamed.

"_poor girl.."_ Yuuki then was soon pushed towards the ground in the very middle of the dorms pathway. I stared at Zero seeing as if he was doing nothing, or more like there was nothing Zero had disappeared!. I figured it was because his thirst was starting to act up.

That next moment I heard the gates starting to creak open as the former stampede formed into perfectly straight lines along each side of the pathway. Yuuki was left in a state of shock as she looked back at the Night Class and awkwardly told them to go ahead while I desperately tried to hold back a laugh "_Typical humans"_.

I viewed from the tree I was currently standing beside that the Night Class was indeed interesting.. "_Vampires.."_ I scanned the crowd and found that Zero had returned. My eyes then came back to the Night Class and saw that a perky blond haired boy with crystal blue eyes was enjoying his current attention. He was shooting "guns" with his fingers as the foolish humans started to fake faint in return "BANG..BANG.. BANG!" he shot. "IDOL-SEMPAI!" the girls screamed in favor, "Hanabusa please don't encourage them.." a boy with reddish blond hair spoke. "WILD!" the girls screamed... "_Oh god.."_.

As the screaming was going on I sensed a pure blood coming closer "Good work today Yuuki" he spoke while resting a hand on her head, that hand then had been immediately snatched away by none other then Zero. "Kuran-san I believe that its time for your classes" Zero angrily glared. "How Scary.." the pure blood spoke. Zero then after started to scream at the Day Class and had gotten them to retreat to there dormitory.

I watched the vampires walk past the pathway and into the main building while I quickly diverted my eyes to Yuuki and Zero's forms. I sensed a few vampires had glanced at me in curiosity "I wonder who she is..", "Interesting..", "Looks tasty..", "For a second I thought she was a vampire her self". I heard all there comments thanks to my sonic hearing, most came from aristocrats while one or two came from common vampires. The pure blood did not say a single word instead he just looked at my form before heading inside.

The two prefects then remembered that I was there and approached me apologetically, "Alright Mari-san lets go!". Yuuki and Zero lead me towards the Headmaster's office and left since they had to patrol for the remainder of the night. I stepped inside the office and was greeted by an ash-blond man that had appeared to be sipping tea, for all I know it could have been booze due to the way he stared. So this had been him.. the infamous ex-vampire hunter. _"Kaien Cross" _

3. Chapter 3

**Just to let people know I'm not doing the whole Rido thing I find it pointless.**

**Also I'm really sorry for making this a short chapter school is getting in the way but I promise I will make Chapter 4 much longer!**

Chapter Three: The New Prefect

_**Headmaster's Office**_

_I dashed towards the man in full speed, no one could hear or see me it was as if I had dispersed into insanity. My knees had soon gone out, and the sudden impact was starting to reactivate my current throbbing head. Then it happened.. all at once a flash of crimson washed around me, my eyes lit up in realization as I saw that it was a familiar substance "Blood..". _

"Mari-chan!?" a high pitched voice cried out, my spell was soon lifted as I realized that I was mindlessly staring across the door way. I cleared my thoughts while shaking away my past and started to approach my first target. "Kaien Cross I assume?" I spoke in a sickeningly sweet accent, the ash-blond figure soon started to lit up as he heard my response, before he had a chance to speak I turned my aura back into one that meant of business. "So I see, you truly are one of them.." he quickly closed the door behind me while reopening another. As he opened the door ahead of him he gestured for me to follow while making sure that we had not been traced.

We were now in a small sound proof study that was linked inside his office. "I assume you know why I am here Cross?", he looked at me for a brief moment before responding in a serious tone "Your cover will be cleared but you need to consider the nature of this academy, in order for me to help you, you must help me". I shot him a small glare_ "He had the nerve..."_, "It's pointless for me to give you a cover if your not willing to make it more believable" he continued, I raised my eyebrows in confusion as to what he had meant,"As a vampire I understand you have quite the control.. that will easily allow you to admit into the day class posing as a human, but since you are masked as my niece it would only be natural for you to know about vampir...". I cut him off "You want me to serve as a prefect am I right?" he had a look of shock, then soon became normal "If you are willing...".

"_If I pose as a prefect I can get closer to both classes.. no restrictions will be applied.."_

I started to lay out my advantages and decided it would be best if I followed through with his request,I could gain his trust this way as well, "Alright Cross you got a deal, just one question what weapon do I get?". He had a annoyingly huge smile on his face while unlocking a wooden cabinet behind him, once opened he pulled out two twin silver daggers with seven emerald stones along each handle "Here you are my dear!". I looked at the daggers that had now been placed in my hands and stared back at Cross sensing an uncertainty in his eyes. " Don't worry.. I'm immune to hunter weapons they do not effect me.." , he let out a relieved breath and motioned for me to follow him back to his main office.

Once we got back he explained the differences between the Night Class and the Day Class, he also gave me a set of rules and guidelines along with the list of responsibilities a prefect attends to.

"Please rest up for the night you must be tired from your long journey, also I will send your uniform and schedule tomorrow morning along with either Yuuki or Zero, Goodnight Mari-chan!". "Goodnight.. uncle.." as soon as those words left my mouth I sprinted towards the exit before he had the chance to hug me, from the corner of my eyes I could tell there were waterfalls building up as he sagged down in despair. _"Crazy man.."_

_**Outside the Academy **_

"HEY NO DAY CLASS STUDENTS ARE ALLOWED TO BE...Mari-san!" Yuuki yelled while she ran up to me.I turned towards her and felt that Zero was nearby _"Great... now I have to deal with them.."._

"Hi Yuuki-chan how's the patrolling going?" I asked stalling her potential questions, as Yuuki was about to answer a voice cut her off by grabbing my shoulder and spinning me around

"No Day Class!... Mari..?"

"Aha.. hello to you to Kiryu-kun" I smiled, Zero looked towards me with no trace of emotion "What are you doing up so late?" he asked suspiciously. "I was with uncle we got caught up.. anyways it turns out your wishes for more prefects was granted", they both stared at me in confusion, as I let out a sigh _"Blockheads.."_

Zero soon got the hint and stepped closer to me "He made you a prefect?", "Yes.. I know about vampires and I come from a family line of vampire hunters so why not?",

"Makes sense..", Zero responded while shoving his hands inside his pockets, Yuuki then pushed Zero aside earning a glare from him "Welcome aboard Mari-san!" she cheered happily while grasping me in a tight hug.

Nearby I sensed a presence staring at the three of us with a look of interest in his eyes, I soon turned my head towards the upper windows of the main building and found that it had been the pure blood. As my eyes gazed over towards him he quickly diverted his attention with a sheer yet unreadable smirk attached to his lips.

_**The Night Class**_

"Looks like somebody's in love" Ruka Souen spoke while casually snatching away sketches that were made by Hanabusa Aido. "I swear who does that Zero Kiryu think he is talking to Lord Kaname like that!" Aido spoke with anger. "Hm.. but that girl.. she looks.. tasty.." Senri Shiki stated, "Yuuki Cross you mean?" Aido responded, earning a glare from both the pure blood and Ruka. "No.. the other one that was with them.." Shiki explained while closing his eyes "What was her name?" a student spoke, "Hey isn't she the headmaster's niece or something!?" another yelled. Suddenly the whole Night Class started talking about the mysterious girl, the conversation soon died down when Kaname Kuran cleared his throat.

"She's our new prefect.. Mari Fuwa" he spoke fixing his eyes on the girls form, she appeared to interest not only him but a certain blond haired male with emerald eyes who had also been sneaking glances.

"You do seem to favor the Cross girl quite a bit Kaname-sama" Ruka state trying to change the current topic. "Yes, your right" Kaname responded looking towards the two girls and faintly smiling.

Ruka soon after dazed off while unconsciously stabbing Aido with his book, "RUKA! DO YOU WISH TO DIE!?" the blond haired male screamed. She then dropped his book while her eyes glued onto the pure bloods form _"Kaname-sama..."_
